

COLOGIX'S ROBUST DATA CENTER PLATFORM NOW AVAILABLE THROUGH BROADLINE

DENVER, Colo. and MINNEAPOLIS, MN – (August 23, 2016) – Cologix, a leading North American network-neutral interconnection and data center company announced today that it has entered into a distribution partnership with Broadline Solutions, a master agency specializing in cloud, colocation and connectivity. The new partnership focuses on delivering Cologix's colocation and interconnection services through Broadline's extensive partner network.

Broadline partners will now be able to build and deploy complex business solutions built on top of Cologix's best in class data centers around North America. The combination of Cologix data centers and Broadline's expertise in networking services will provide end users with a unique solution set of cloud technologies, networking and data center services.

"Broadline collaborates with a wide range of clients including enterprise, retail & healthcare on strategic solutions to meet their business needs and we are pleased to add our robust interconnection and colocation platform to their comprehensive solution offering," stated Stephen Callahan, Senior Vice President of Channel Sales. "We focus on key distribution relationships that complement and extend the reach of our data center solutions. We are excited to launch and support our partnership with Broadline and their best-in-class network for subagents."

Through Cologix's Channel Partner Program, Broadline can offer scalable interconnection and secure, reliable colocation services from one of nine unique markets in the United States and Canada. Cologix data centers, located in Columbus, Dallas, Jacksonville, Lakeland, Minneapolis, Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver, offer access to 450 unique network choices. Broadline helps businesses across the globe with their cloud, colocation and connectivity needs, acting as an advocate to manage pricing, contracts, product selection, network design consulting, post-sales support and business continuity.

"Our customers are sophisticated users of cloud, colocation and connectivity that understand the importance of choice and future-proofing their business," stated Wade Acheson, Principal of Broadline. "Cologix not only offers the broadest access to networks in their Meet-Me-Rooms across their unique markets, but also enable customizable and scalable colocation solutions with access to a wide selection of cloud service providers that resonate with enterprises that need to future-proof their IT infrastructure. We look forward to leveraging Cologix's data center platform to continue to offer best-in-class solutions and choice for our customers."
